In Honour of Mr. E. Ahamed

MALAPPURAM, KERALA

Malappuram is a culturally rich district in northern Kerala, known for its scenic landscapes, vibrant festivals, and strong educational tradition. Situated along the lush Western Ghats, the region blends natural beauty with deep historical roots. Malappuram has played a key role in Kerala's history, from the freedom struggle to its cultural renaissance, and is home to sacred sites like Thirunavaya and temples like the famous Kadampuzha Devi Temple.

Stroll through the peaceful Kottakkunnu Park, often called the "Ooty of Malappuram", or explore bustling local markets filled with traditional crafts and Malabari cuisine. With a legacy of harmony between communities and a love for football and literature, Malappuram stands as a proud symbol of Kerala's tradition, resilience, and charm.

E.A.MUNC

INTRODUCTION

The E. Ahmed Model United Nations Conference (E.A.MUNC) began its journey in 2017, honouring the legacy of the late Shri E. Ahamed. The conference was established with a simple yet powerful mission: to empower young people to make their voices heard. With continuous dedication and support from the organizing committee, E.A.MUNC has grown each year, reaching new heights. Its primary goal is to inspire youth to recognize their potential and work towards a better future.

We understand the importance of nurturing young minds and providing them with platforms to engage with and address global issues. In an increasingly interconnected world, diplomacy and international relations are crucial skills, and we believe that fostering these abilities from a young age will greatly benefit students in their future pursuits. In its most recent edition, E.A.MUNC welcomed over 500 delegates from more than 25 schools, making it a truly international conference. We are committed to this vision and will continue to do our best to prepare today's youth for a brighter and more informed tomorrow.

MESSAGE FROM E.A.MUNC CHAIRPERSON

We at Indian School Al Ghubra are honoured to have our MUNC associated with the memory of Late Mr. E. AHAMED, who was not only an excellent politician but also a virtuous man who represented those who were underprivileged or whose voices were usually ignored. He did this on numerous occasions at the United Nations where he represented not only India's issues, but the issues of the world as well.

E.A.MUNC truly believes that its motto 'FREEDOM FROM FEAR' is the perfect tribute to the Conference's namesake, Mr. E. AHAMED. E.A.MUNC is a platform for delegates to convert their awareness of the world they live in, into action. Each delegate has something unique to bring to the table. They bring in their differences and similarities to discuss a plethora of extraordinary ideas and visions for the future.

E.A.MUNC unites delegates towards seeking realistic and long-term solutions. It dares them to challenge the norm and question the existing policies. It encourages the delegates to take action and influence change, and lastly, E.A.MUNC inspires the young minds to break boundaries and arrive at resolutions to the issues raised at the conference.

Wishing the delegates all the very best in making decisions through consensus as global citizens and finding solutions to the world of tomorrow.

Best wishes
Mr. Ahmed Rayees

COMMITTEES AND AGENDA OVERVIEW

UNSC

AGENDA: Post-Conflict Reconstruction: Recovery in the Face of Emerging Terrorism

Terrorism remains one of the most pressing global threats, often exacerbating existing conflicts and hindering post-conflict recovery. As terrorist organizations evolve and employ more sophisticated tactics, nations emerging from conflict face heightened challenges. These include rebuilding critical infrastructure, restoring governance, and addressing the social and psychological scars left by terrorism.

Throughout the committee sessions, delegates will explore how post-conflict regions can strengthen governance structures, rehabilitate communities affected by terrorism, and promote long-term peace and stability. By analyzing case studies and discussing counter-terrorism strategies, we aim to create comprehensive solutions to rebuild nations and prevent the resurgence of terrorism.

UNGA

AGENDA: Enhancing Peace Negotiations Among Nations: Strengthening Diplomatic Efforts and Promoting International Cooperation

In an age where globalization and interconnectedness strive, diplomacy is forced to stand as the last line of defense against utter chaos. The challenges the world faces—climate change, automation, and ever-changing geopolitical tensions—and the way we handle them together shape the very essence of international relations.

Our sessions will focus on how diplomacy can push forward the UN 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, finding a balance between social, economic, and environmental needs, while seeking to preserve peace. We will delve into the impact of globalization, how it has forged new paths for diplomacy between nations that once remained distant, and how diplomatic efforts must guide the projects and ideals that will govern this uncharted frontier.

SOCHUM

AGENDA: Promoting Refugee Health and Protection- Strengthening Support Systems, and Advancing Inclusive Asylum Policies

The Third Committee of the United Nations General Assembly, also known as the Social, Humanitarian, and Cultural Committee (SOCHUM), was established in 1945 in response to the adoption of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. This committee plays a key role in stimulating international cooperation and promoting fundamental human rights, cultural diversity, and social justice worldwide. Its work is crucial to advancing the United Nations' mission of promoting peace, security, and human dignity for all.

Throughout the committee sessions, we will discuss how to provide effective support to refugees, as it is crucial to enhance healthcare access, mental health services, and social support. Robust systems should address both immediate medical needs and long-term well-being, including trauma care and integration services. Inclusive asylum policies are essential for fair treatment and protection of refugees, involving transparent and equitable asylum procedures and safeguarding human rights.

UNEP

AGENDA: Waste Management- Assessing The Impact and Enhancing Sustainable Practices

Waste management is essential to our health, to protecting our environment, and for sustainable development. It involves collecting, moving, processing, and disposing of different types of waste which include household, industrial, medical, hazardous, and electronic wastes among others.

Throughout the committee sessions, we will delve into how waste management impacts our Earth and also come up with inventive strategies to better enhance our sustainable practices as we represent nations worldwide on this pressing issue. With comprehensive management strategies, we can not only mitigate environmental pollution, reduce greenhouse gas emissions, and conserve resources but we can also minimize the impact of waste on the biosphere and human health.

UNODC

AGENDA: Combating Organized Crime and Drug Distribution - Tackling Evolving Threats and their Impact on Youth

The United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC) plays a pivotal role in coordinating international action against illicit drugs, organized crime, and trafficking. With criminal networks becoming more sophisticated through technology, encrypted communication, and dark web operations, the global response must evolve accordingly. Young people are increasingly vulnerable to drug abuse, gang recruitment, and online criminal exposure, making it urgent to act.

Throughout the committee sessions, delegates will explore how nations can collaborate to dismantle trafficking rings, regulate narcotics distribution, and implement youth protection frameworks. Discussions will focus on legislative reforms, cross-border intelligence sharing, and community-level interventions. By analyzing successful national strategies and identifying policy gaps, we aim to create impactful, youth-centric, and globally applicable solutions to combat this pressing threat.

UNHRC

AGENDA: Prioritizing Technological Advancements in the Field of Healthcare in Developing Countries

The United Nations Human Rights Council (UNHRC) recognizes access to healthcare as a universal human right. In today's age of innovation, technology has revolutionized the medical field — from AI-based diagnostics to remote care through telemedicine. Yet, many developing nations lack the infrastructure or policy frameworks to adopt these advancements, widening global healthcare inequalities.

Delegates will address how the international community can ensure equitable access to medical technology, especially in low-income regions. Topics will include improving digital infrastructure, data security, affordability, and international aid for medical innovation. By evaluating case studies, proposing funding models, and reinforcing the right to benefit from science, the committee aims to make healthcare more inclusive, effective, and future-ready for all nations.

ECOFIN

AGENDA: Revolutionizing Automation and Structural Unemployment- Harnessing Technology to Bridge Global Income Disparities

ECOFIN plays a critical role in overseeing fiscal policies, economic coordination, and financial market regulations. Currently, as automation is becoming more and more popular with businesses all around the world due to its lucrative benefits it's becoming worse and worse for people who rely on menial jobs for money, and thus, the gap between the rich and the poor is only widening. Throughout the committee session, global cooperation and knowledge sharing will be vital in addressing disparities and ensuring that all nations can harness the benefits of automation.

The future of work will depend on our ability to balance technological advancements with policies that protect and empower workers. As we move forward, it is crucial to create an environment where technology and human labour coexist harmoniously, driving sustainable development and social equity across the globe. We can work towards a future where technological progress contributes to shared prosperity and a more equitable world.
